—Monday night, a passenger in a coach on the Mississippi Central railroad, met with a norrible death between Hazlehurst and Jackson, Mississippi. While sitting in his seat he became anxious to know where the train was, and poked his head out of the window just as another train was passing. The head of the man was struck by the passing train and crushed like an egg. The brains and blood were scattered on the seats and floor, and the head-less body quivered only for an instant, for life was already extinct. Several passengers rushed to the seat where the body reclined, the blood streaming from the neck, and only a shapeless lump of mangled flesh and bones indicating what a minute previous had been a hu-man head. The remains of the unfortunate man were placed in a coffin and forwarded to his family. We were unable to learn the man's name. —In Clark's jewelry-store Mrs.M.A.E. The Theater. Last night there was a large and fashlonable addience at the Theater, the play being The Little Detective, in which Lotta appeared in the roles of "Florence Langton," "Grizzie Guttridge," "Mrs. Gamage," "Barney O'Brien" and Gaunse-a sh-nee Josepheneclitelager adovica." In each of these characters Lotta was graceful and at all times interesting, her songs and dances being es pecially attractive. The Little Detective properly termed Lotta's great specialty, for the play, while violating all dra-matic merit, introduces this charming actress in half a dozen different charac ters, which gives her an opportunity to display that varied and wonderful talent which she alone of all other protean artistes possesses so thoroughly and exercises so gracefully and naturally. The play is one of exciting interest, and is replete with mith and fun. Mr. Butler, as "Phoebus Rockaway," and Mr. Spies as "Stephen Hardcliffe" gave most ex-cellent support and made up for all deficiencies that others may have displayed. The audience was certainly afforded a brilliant and delightful entertainment. To-night The Little Detective will be repeated and will draw another large and appreciative audience. All who attend the Theater during Lotta's engagement will be well repaid. To-morrow night Zip, or The Point Lynde Light, will be presented. There will be a matinee at two o'clock Saturday after-

POLITICAL.

One Way or the Other. EDITORS APPEAL-The executive committee of the city of Memphis, appointed by the Democratic convention which assembled at the Greenlaw Operahouse Saturday last, having trancended the powers intrusted to them by the convention, should at once publicly rescind their illegal and void action in the premises, or immediately resign. Either course is simply the duty of the executive committee, dictated alike by a sense of respect to the convention which appointed them, and which has been outraged by their action, and by a sense of justice to the Democratic party, whose success in the approaching election the committee has seriously jeopard-CONSERVATISM.

That Sad Resolution. EDITORS APPRAL-The city executive committee seem to misunderstand the functions of their office, and to imagine that it is competent for them to radicalize the movement inaugurated by the call for a Democratic mass-meeting, signed ten days ago by a number of respectable citizens, and in pursuance of which the staunchest and most intelligent Democratic citizens of Memphis met in the Greenlaw Operahouse Saturday night, and appointed simply a "Democratic committee." During the progress of the mass-convention there was not one word uttered which would lead anybody to think for a moment that it was anything else than a purely Democratic gathering. All the rag-tag elements of liberalism, which includes every Radical in the city, were not invited to attend nor to participate in the proceedings; and, in fact, they did not attend nor participate. General Wright, whom the meeting, by vociferous call-ing, insisted upon hearing, said in his short speech that he understood the business in hand was the resuscitation of the regular oldfashioned Democracy, and not a con--Last Sunday night burglars entered glomerations of incongruous elements J. J. Adair's storehouse at Lagrange, which could be classed under the hydraeral." Such a combination would not be tolerated. And that General Wright expressed the sentiments of the meeting was sufficiently attested by th cheers and evident general satisfaction with which his speech was received. During the whole period of the meeting not a word was said about anything but Democracy, and it was universally understood that the committee was empowered to act as a Democratic committee, and nothing else. There was nothing left to their wisdom, or discretion or caprice. They had certain plain duties to perform; dietating what elements constitute Democracy was not one of them. It was their duty to adhere to the letter and spirit of the massconvention, and these were entirely averse to the admixture of element hitherto and now hostile to the principles of the Democratic party here and everywhere else in the country.

OLD-FASHIONED DEMOCRAT. The Appeal Sustained. EDITORS APPEAL-By reference to the editorial columns of the Ledger, of last evening, it will be seen that the attitude of your journal toward the unwarranted proceedings of the Democratic executive committee for this city, which was appointed at a Democratic meeting, called by Democrats, to prepare for the nomination of a Democrat for mayor of Memphis, is pretty nearly knocked all to pieces by one of the ablest arguments that ever appeared in print. In my estimation you have most cor-rectly asserted that the following resolution, passed day before yesterday by the municipal Democratic executive committee, does not comport with the objects and sentiments of the Democrats who gave it life and power, but that on the contrary it opens the doors to the very vilest enemies of our party organization into the chamber of its birth. Here is the resolution which you have deemed wise and proper to inveigh against, and in which opposition you are more largely sustained than perhaps will be palatable to some who are or may be of the Ledger's editor's "new dispensation:"

Resolved, That it is the sense of this committee that all the Democratic-Conservative and Liberal citizens of this city be requested to unite in the election of delegates to a convention to be held for the nomination of a candidate for mayor of Memphis. That means ell sorts, no matter of what political complexion, so they can pro-nounce the magical word "liberal" for the occasion, must be "Invited" to join mayor, whom in all probability they do timely opposed your sanction. The Ledger's crushing grounds to your position on this point are these: That The representatives of the Democratic and Editors, against the humble attitude you have taken that Ed Shaw, Colonel Barbour Lewis, John League and General M. T. Williamson -who are "good and true men, who de-COLONEL J. M. His many friends have emanate from a Democratic convention, which was simply formed for the express purpose of preparing for a Democratic or Democratic-Conservative convention, for I have no earthly objection st of his excellent paper.

Mr. Galbreath being notified of his re-election, and called upon for a speech, made a few remarks, expressing his thanks and appreciation for the honor conferred in selecting him again to an office which he deemed the proudest of any in Shelby county. He stated that his office should be used only for the promotion of the interests of the cotton exchange, and in no way should it be made to subserve his individual pur-

President Galbreath's remarks were well received, and we are pleased to know that good feeling and harmony prevail among the members of the cotton exchange, and also between all who received votes in the election. Mr. Galbreath has already filled the office of president of the cotton exchange during the two preceding years with marked ability and characteristic efficiency. He has been a prominent merchant in this city for over twenty years, during which time he has always been noted for his enterprise, liberality and hospitality. He is a citizen whom our people justiy appreciate, and a gentleman whose ex-cellence we are pleased to know finds due appreciation both at home and abroad, and is again recognized in such a substantial manner by his re-election to an office which he has filled so worthily and will always conduct for the good and advancement of the cotton exchange. The selection of Mr. Galbreath and the other gentlemen we consider quite judicious.

THE TENTH WARD CLUB.

The Rall in Motion in South Memphis-Organization of a Democratic-Conservative Club-Resolutions, Speeches, Etc.

The Democracy of the tenth ward met in the Mississippi house last night for the purpose of organizing a Democratic ward club. A large number of the leading citizens and workingmen of the ward were present, and the meeting was organized by calling Captain J. R. Taylor to the temporary chairmanship, who, in a few brief but pertinent remarks, announced the bjects of the meeting, when the work committee of five was appointed to draft resolutions for its government. John Strehl, George Hassinger, Martin Finn, B. P. Anderson and Thomas Fleming were appointed the committee, who immediately retired to make their report. Pending this report the books were opened for membership to the Tenth ten per cent. For further information apply Ward Democratic club. A number of to THOS. J. BEASLEY. gentlemen gave their names, amounting to quite a nucleus upon which one of the most formidable Democratic clubs in the city will be formed. The committee on resolutions made their report as fol-

Resolved, That we adopt the first resoution as adopted by the eighth ward Democratic meeting, which is as fol-First-That we are unalterably pledged to the support of the Demecratic party and the liberal and enlightened policie expressed in the State and national platforms of that party.

Second—We inderse fully the action of the Democratic Conservative meeting held at the Greenlaw Operahouse on Saturday, November 27th.

Third—We will support faithfully the nominee for mayor of the Democratic-Conservative convention, and the nomi-nees of the party in this ward.

Fourth-That we cordially invite the operation of all good citizens in our efforts to select good and competent offi-cers to fill all the offices of the city. The resolutions were unanimousl adopted. On motion this club will be known as the Tenth Ward Democratic-Conservative club, and it was deter mined to open books to receive name for membership at Sirehl's butcher-shop and Pendergrast's saloon. The club then proceeded to permanent or-ganization, and the following gentlemen were appointed a committee on or-ganization: John Strehl, George Hassinger, Mastin Finn, B. P. Anderson, Thomas Fleming and W. S Brooks The permanent officers chosen were: J R. Taylor, president; George Hasein-ger, vice-president; George B. Elliott, secretary and treasurer. Colonel B. P. Anderson, being called upon, addressed the meeting. He declared this to be a most important election, and complimented the success of the initiatory steps taken in the tenth ward in the or ganization of a club composed of all classes of the citizens of the ward. He thought that organization was necessary to develop strength, and the importance of the coming election required that every man should do his duty. He alluded to the Democratic party as the people's organization against the enemies to our republican form of government. It is a party of progress, which the speaker demonstrated in the many changes that have taken place since the earlier days of our government. Colonel Anderson told some plain truths, which were frequently interrupted by the appreciative plaudits of the assemblage Mr. John Roush was next called, and responded with a short speech, during which he declared himself to be a Democrat, and loved the principles of the party. He urged organization, and faithful work in the coming municipal election. He wants a mayor whose interests are identified with the weltare of Memphis. He aliuded to the nomination of A. T. Lacey, in which his name appeared, and wanted it understood here that he would abide by the action of the Democratic-party. Mr. Roush's remarks were listened to attentively, given him warm greetings.
